RUSSIANS IN EAST KEEP UP ADVANCE

PETROGRAD REPORTS
170,000 PRISONERS
TAKEN.

BRITISH LOSE DESTROYER

AUSTRIANS AND ITAL-IANS DEADLOCK IN TRENTINO.

There are no signs of a halt in the powerful Russian offensive in Volhynia, Galicia, and Bukovina. The latest Austrian official statement tells of a Russian check here and there, notably the defeat of a cavalry force south of the Dniester in Galicia and the stopping of Russian efforts to cross the Stokhod and the Stry in Volhynia. The Russians, however, are remaining on the aggressive, attacking all along the Volhynian front and pressing hard against the Austrian lines further south.

The capture of approximately 170,000 men by the Russians since the inception of the offensive is claimed by Petrograd, which declares that steady advances are being scored against the Austrian armies.

French positions in the Dead Man Hill sector, northwest of Verdun, are again the object of German attacks, the big guns of the crown prince violently shelling the French trenches. The only infantry movements that developed, however, were a hand grenade attack slightly west of the hill, which the French repulsed, and a similar attack on the Avocourt redoubt, to the southwest, which also failed.

There is still pronounced activity on the Trentino front, where the Austrians and Italians are at grips, but no advances of consequence, on either side are claimed, in the latest reports.

COPENHAGEN, June 17.—Two large German steamships were torpedoed in the Baltic last evening, according to Swedish fishermen who say they saw the vessels sink after a violent cannonading.

LONDON, June 17.—The British destroyer Eden has been sunk. Thirty-one members of the crew were saved. Three officers are missing.

The Eden was sunk in the English channel last night after a collision. This announcement was made this afternoon by the official press bureau.

The British destroyer Eden displaced 555 tons and carried a complement of 70 men. She was 220 feet long, 23 feet beam and 8 feet deep. She was built in 1902 and had a speed of 26 knots. The Eden carried four 2-inch guns and was equipped with two 18-inch torpedo tubes.

AUSTRIANS CHECK RUSS.

Berlin Reports Defeat of Czar's Cavalry in Galicia.

BERLIN, June 17.—(By wireless to Sayville.)—Austro-Hungarian troops south of the Dniester river in Galicia, defeated a Russian cavalry force on Thursday, according to an official statement given out by the Austro-Hungarian army headquarters under date of June 16.

The statement also announces that new battles have been started on the whole front in Volhynia.

BERLIN, via London, June 17.—General Von Linsingen's troops have engaged the Russians in battle in the Stokhod and Stry sectors, says the official statement issued by German army headquarters today.

The statement adds that parts of the army of General Count Von Bothmer are engaged in battle with the Russians to the north of Przemylo.

ATHENS, June 17.—The demands of the entente allies nations on Greece, it was learned here today, are being considerably strengthened and extended as a result of the anti-entente demonstrations which broke out in Athens last Monday.

The demands were ready for presentation to the Greek government when the disorders occurred but the note probably will not be delivered until next week. Meanwhile the entente blockade against Greek ports is continuing in full force.

Premier Skouloudis of Greece, is sending out confidential instructions to government officials and army officers in order to counteract the effects of the order from the demobilization of the army, according to the Matin.

Four Prominent Democrats at St. Louis Convention

SEN FOWEREH OF OHIO DAVID F. HOUSTON ALFRED E. SMITH NORMAN E. MINK OF NEW YORK

DEMOCRATS FINISH CONCLAVE; ONLY ONE ROLL CALL NEEDED

Clans Could Not Quit Without Having Scrap of Some Sort.

Wind-up of Convention is Noisy One With Suffrage Fight On.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 17.—Sustaining in every particular the suggestion and desires of President Wilson, the democratic national convention at 3:10 yesterday afternoon completed the task of joining issues with the republicans for the great national political contest just ahead and adjourned sine die.

With the final tap of the gavel the delegates and alternates, less than two-thirds of whom remained in the hall, broke for the exits, and without waiting to give a final cheer hastened to catch late afternoon and early evening homeward bound trains.

The last two hours of the convention were devoted to a noisy but for the most part good natured debate over the suffrage plank in the party platform. There were flashes of temper and considerable in the way of ridicule and peppery comment on the statement of speakers on both sides of the suffrage debate.

At no time, however, did the convention threaten to get beyond control, as have some democratic assemblies in the past, and the convention concluded as it opened—without a break in the three days of harmony.

The division over suffrage forced the only roll call of the convention, the roll call was on the adoption of a minority report submitted by members of the resolutions committee representing the states of Georgia, Texas, Indiana and New Jersey. It sought to substitute for the majority report the southern conception of state's rights. The majority report was:

"We recommend the extension of franchise to the women of the country by the states upon the same terms as men."

The recommendations of the majority were sustained overwhelmingly by a vote of 888 1-2 to 138 1-2.

COMPANY C UNDER RIGID FEDERAL LAW AFTER JULY FIRST

Members Must Take New Oath of Allegiance to Nation.

Active Service Term Three Years.

Captain Clark Creps of company C, Ohio National Guards, was informed this morning by Adjutant General B. W. Hough, that under the terms of the new federal army law adopted June 3, and effective in July, it is necessary that a number of rigid rules be followed.

Under the new law it is necessary that officers and enlisted men of company C take new oaths of allegiance to both the federal and state government when the enlistment papers are taken out. This means that in the future the members of the company will be subject to the call of the president of the United States and consequently can be sent out of the United States in case of war.

Under the present laws governing the national guards, they are subject to the call of the governor of the state. However, the president can send them to different parts of the United States if conditions warrant such action.

Another clause of the bill which is causing considerable discussion among army officials is extension time during which members may be called in case of war. Enlistments accepted are for six years, three of which are called active guard service and requires that they attend drill on nights specified, and the other three on the reserve list. The latter are not forced to attend drill practice, but are required to go to the front in case of a call. Under the present law members of the national guard companies are through with the service after the expiration of three years.

Before any funds credited to any state militia under the provisions of the new army law it is necessary that all members of companies take the new oaths of allegiance and comply with other clauses of the act. Captain Creps stated today that as soon as definite information in regard to the specific conditions of the army bill were received, all members and officers of company C would be made to comply with them.

Captain Creps stated that according to present arrangements about 30 members of the local company would march to McBeth's park this evening. A sham battle is scheduled for tomorrow morning and drill and maneuvers will complete the program of the day. Camp will be broken tomorrow evening and the squad will march back to the city.

DISCHARGED WORKMAN SLAIN.

Mara escaped.

VICTIM OF VICIOUS DOG WILL RECOVER

Unmuzzled Canine That Attacked Child is on Parole.

Basinger, who dressed the wounds of the child stated today that although he expected nothing serious to result from the bite of the dog, he would have the owners keep it confined for a number of days and await developments. If the animal shows any symptoms of being afflicted with rabies, its head will be sent to Columbus for examination.

NAUGHTY CINCINNATI.

CINCINNATI, O., June 17.—Designating Cincinnati as the "wettest" city in the state, the Ohio Anti-Saloon league in a report just issued also says that "When a person is arrested in Cincinnati for drunkenness it is a safe guess he is well under the influence." The report is the first of a series of the Anti-Saloon league's state-wide survey. It contains statistics as to arrests, divorces, crimes, etc., and claims that 80 per cent of the crimes are due to liquor.

ELEVATOR CASE IN SUPREME COURT

COLUMBUS, O., June 17.—Questions as to the right of persons to recover for injuries sustained while riding in passenger elevators, the liability of building owners for negligence in court actions following such accidents and the liability of elevator operators for prosecution on charges of criminal negligence in such cases are to be admitted to the supreme court if a motion filed today by the Ohio Traction company asking for an order to the Hamilton county appellate court to certify its record in the case brought against the company by Alice Flynn, administratrix of the estate of Michael Flynn, is allowed.

Flynn, it is said, was killed in an elevator while on route to the company's general offices in Cincinnati. In common pleas court his widow secured a judgment for $7,000 which was sustained by the court of appeals.

AMERICAN CONSULS ORDERED FROM MEXICO BY U.S. ADMINISTRATION

Funston Has No Direct Word From Pershing As to Warning

WASHINGTON IS IN TOUCH

Outlaws Along Texas Border Are Being Carefully Watched by Troopers On Guard.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, June 17.—The arrival at Laredo today of Philip Hanna, consul general at Monterey, developed the fact that the state department ordered both him and J. H. Silliman, consul at Saltillo, to the American side of the river.

The withdrawal of these two consular officers will leave the American government with no consular representatives at interior points in Mexico, except an agent at Mexico City.

LAREDO, Texas, June 17.—Due probably to the vigilance of Texas rangers and the military patrol the reported raid by Mexican bandits at Saltillo, 25 miles northwest of here, early today, did not materialize, according to reports to General Mann, commanding the border patrol here. Rangers and armed civilians aided the military in guarding that part of the border where bandits were seen approaching last night.

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, June 17.—A troop of the third cavalry under Lieutenant A. D. Newman, has struck a hot trail of Mexican bandits north of Brownsville, it was reported to army headquarters here today. The bandits are supposed to have been those who attacked United States soldiers near San Antonio last night.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—General Funston advised the war department today that he was informed by General Bell at El Paso that General Pershing had been warned by General Trevino, the Carranza commander at Chihuahua, that any movement of the American expedition to the south, west or east would be a signal for an attack by the Mexican forces.

No word has come so far from General Pershing himself but even before the arrival of General Funston's message department officials were inclined to credit newspaper dispatches telling of the Trevino warning. Preparations have been made for any eventuality and Pershing is ready to deal with any force that may be sent against him. It is probable, however, that he will hold to his present lines, and make no move to precipitate hostilities.

General Funston reported also that Major Gray of the fourteenth cavalry commanding the two troops attacked by Mexicans at San Ignacio, Texas, recently, his returned from an effort to pick up the trail of the bandits. The cavalry rode some distance down the American side of the river, crossed to the Mexican side on reports that a bandit mobilization was in progress turned north again on the Mexican side for several miles and re-crossed into American territory without having encountered any outlaws or finding a trail. Two additional prisoners were captured on the American side and the body of another dead Mexican found in the brush near the scene of the attack.

Major Gray reported he had received assurances of co-operation from Carranza commanders across the line. The Mexican officers said they had captured twenty men believed to have been engaged in the attack on the American camp. The American commander said he believed the band had been broken up, and that no further activities were to be expected from that particular force.

Practically all available regulars of the United States army including many coast artillerymen already are on the border or in Mexico and the national guard of Texas, Arizona and New Mexico are in service for patrol duty. The guardmen of other states were notified some weeks ago to be prepared to respond if it should become necessary to call them out.

General Funston's army of almost 50,000 has been so disposed along the Mexican border that swift punitive action could be taken if invited by any overt act of Carranza's army.

General Jacinto Trevino's threat to attack General Pershing if the American troops move east or west or south was regarded by army officers here as little less than a declaration of hostilities by the Mexicans. No fear is felt however that General Pershing will not be able to take care of himself. Preparations taken by General Bell at El Paso last night in holding all the American troops ready for action were similar to those taken at every border point opposite which there was

U. S. Consuls Withdraw.

LAREDO, Texas, June 17.—Philip C. Hanna, United States consul general at Monterey, one of the two remaining American consuls in Mexico accompanied by half a dozen other Americans, arrived here today. He was reticent as to the object of his visit.

Asked regarding conditions in Mexico and the probable length of his stay, Consul Hanna replied: "Everything is quiet down the line. I may remain two or three days."

It has been known for some time that Consul Hanna was instructed by the state department that he could leave his post at any time at his own discretion.

Texas rangers under command of Captain J. J. Sanders, and several armed citizens were hurried to Saltillo, 25 miles up the Rio Grande from Laredo on a report that Mexican bandits were seen approaching the settlement. Rangers in that vicinity advised the few Americans to congregated at the J. B. Morrow ranch house, from which an appeal for aid was telephoned.

General Mann, commanding the Laredo district of the border patrol had heard nothing regarding the raid and was inclined to believe that if a raid had been contemplated it had not been carried out.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, June 17.—General Funston and his staff gave careful attention today to the activities of outlaw bands along the Mexican border, but far greater interest was displayed in the attitude being assumed by the troops of the de facto government.

General Ricaut's warning that the crossing of the international boundary by any American troops for any cause would be regarded as an overt act and would be the cause for an attack by the de facto government troops did not disturb General Funston. The search for bandits it was declared will continue and whenever a "hot trail" is found leading into Mexico the Americans will not hesitate to follow it. The officers in charge of troops on the border have authority to cross into Mexico without waiting for instructions.

General Funston's army of almost 50,000 has been so disposed along the Mexican border that swift punitive action could be taken if invited by any overt act of Carranza's army.

General Jacinto Trevino's threat to attack General Pershing if the American troops move east or west or south was regarded by army officers here as little less than a declaration of hostilities by the Mexicans. No fear is felt however that General Pershing will not be able to take care of himself. Preparations taken by General Bell at El Paso last night in holding all the American troops ready for action were similar to those taken at every border point opposite which there was any considerable number of Carran troops. The greatest activity was displayed at Juarez because of the recent reinforcement of the Mexican garrisons.

If the request of General Franton for more militia—his request never has been withdrawn—is granted, the state troops will be divided along the border stations where their work will be to garrison bandit menaced towns and the more important border stations where larger bodies of troops are concentrated for service in the event of more extended operations.

FALLS IN FAULT.

Erwin Crovelson, of 730 North Jameson avenue, was taken to his home in the Williams and Davis ambulance shortly after noon today, when he fell to the sidewalk in front of the Gooding shoe store, as a result of a fainting spell. The physician who took charge of the patient stated that the case was not serious.

JAPANESE GUNS USED.

LONDON, June 17.—A dispatch to the Central News from Petrograd says that much of the effectiveness of the Russian artillery in their great Galician drive is due to the use of big Japanese guns. These guns are said to be more powerful than any that the Russians have had heretofore and are charged with shells filled with a new explosive, the destructive power of which is terrific.

PENNSY DETECTIVE CAPTURES SLAYER

Lima Police on Lookout For Fugitive, Get Word He is Taken.

While visiting Lima police headquarters this morning, Captain Alexander of the Pennsylvania detective department, informed Police Chief McKelvey that he captured Policini, the Kenton murderer, as he was walking down the main street of Dunkirk, this morning. On advice of Kenton authorities last night, local police kept a sharp lookout for the fugitive. All trains arriving in the city were searched, following detailed information received from the Kenton department. When arrested the foreigner told the detective that after he had killed the man he rode to Dunkirk in a taxicab. On reaching the edge of the city he paid the driver and made the rest of the journey to town on foot. The detective recognized him on the street from descriptions sent from Kenton.

PLEADS GUILTY TO HORSE STEALING; BOUND OVER.

James Tuttle, alias Charles Wilson, arrested in Wapakoneta, yesterday, on a charge of stealing a horse and buggy, from the Plummer and Cook Livery Co., of Lima, pleaded guilty to the charge in the court of Justice of the Peace Morris and was bound over to the grand jury.

It is alleged that under the name of Wilson he engaged the outfit from the livery barn on Thursday. According to information from Wapakoneta, he traded the outfit for another horse and buggy in that city and shortly afterward sold the newly acquired outfit. The sheriff heard of the deal and arrested him.

COURT APPROVES THE SUIT OF FETTER BROS.

Judge Klinger this morning authorized the payment of $414.90 alleged to be due by G. R. and J. E. Fetter, doing business as partners under the firm name of Fetter Brothers, from the Allen county board of commissioners, for stone, used to improve various roads in Bath and other townships in the county.

The contracts for placing the stone was let before the present board of commissioners took office. County Surveyor W. R. Toy refused to affix his signature to the bills. The present board of commissioners were aware that stone had been placed, but did not know in what quantities. They refused to pay the bills until the surveyor affixed his signature.

Fetter Brothers went into court to secure payment of the same, which Judge Klinger allowed.

COURT OF APPEALS UPHOLDS VALIDITY OF SCHOOLS LAWS

Ruling is Made in Long Contested Auglaize Twp. Case.

Decision of State Wide Import Upon County School Board Status.

The court of appeals, in a decision handed down yesterday afternoon, in the Auglaize township school litigation, reversed the action of Judge H. A. Miller of Celina, who, in October of last year, stripped the Allen county school board and all similar boards in Ohio, of power, when he declared as unconstitutional the act of the general assembly directing the manner of election of such boards. The higher court declared the rural school laws as valid and according to the state constitution. The decision of the higher court is of interest in every county in Ohio.

The decision was the first in Allen county and set a state-wide precedent as to the question of constitutionality. The decision of the higher court is of equally as great interest.

Had the decision of Judge Miller been sustained, the rural school legislation, which revolutionized the country school system, would have been destroyed. This was passed during the time James M. Cox was governor.

Judge Miller declared that members of county school boards were "officers" of the county and that, as such, they must, under the constitution, be chosen by the electors, and not by the presidents of the village and township school boards of the county, as the general assembly prescribed.

All acts of the board would have been illegal and the body would have disappeared from the country school system, if Judge Miller's opinion had been sustained by the supreme court. County School Superintendent C. A. Arganbright, appointed by the county board, and the district county superintendents would lose office. All action upon text books would have been illegal.

The constitutionality of the law was supported by B. F. Welty, former special counsel to the United States attorney general, Ortha O. Barr, prosecuting attorney, and Frank H. Downing, attorneys on the opposing side were Walter B. Richle and T. R. Hamilton. The litigation grew out of a rivalry between Harrod and Westminster, which started in the eighties when the Chicago and Erie railroad was built through Harrod instead of Westminster.

A school feud has developed that has kept the people of Auglaize township in an uproar for a long time. Recently the people of the two villages effected a reconciliation, but taxpayers in other parts of the township renewed the fight. For months the quarrel has been in court almost constantly.

Auglaize township, with neighboring parts of Bath, Perry and Jackson townships, until recently was decided to the Westminster rural school district on the west and the Auglaize rural school district on the east.

Westminster had built a $15,000 school house and wanted that part of the Auglaize district from which pupils came to be joined to the Westminster district, so that the taxpayers getting school privileges could help pay the bonds for the school house.

Harrod needed a school house because the old structure had been condemned by the state, but the taxable property of the village was not enough to raise the money. The Harrod school district was merged with the Auglaize rural district and it was proposed to erect a school to be used by the whole district.

First a bond issue of $40,000 was proposed and failed at the polls. An issue for $35,000 met a similar fate. Then some of the taxpayers went to the county school board and asked to have a new boundary established between the Westminster and Auglaize rural school districts. The plan was to give the Westminster district the desired additional territory and at the same time to cut off a part of the Auglaize district which contained the voters who defeated the Harrod bonds.

Then another bond election was held and $20,000 was voted. This started another fight which was carried to the court of appeals. The division line fixed by the county school board was annulled because the valuations of taxable property in the two new districts were not properly equalized. The appellate court held that the division must consider topography, the convenience of pupils and property values.

The county board then marked another boundary to the east of the former one, following the order of the appellate court. The same taxpayers again attacked, this time charging that the county board had no authority because the law under which the board was created was unconstitutional. This was the contention which was sustained by Judge Miller.

Although the third bond proposal for $20,000 was sanctioned by the voters it was nullified by the later action of the appellate court. Another bond issue, the fourth, was submitted at the general election. Arrangements for this were made after the second boundary was fixed by the county board. This passed but is invalidated by the decision of the higher court.

The restraining order of Judge Miller sustained the protestants in all particulars, except that the court said the election upon the bonds might be held and that the election might stand for what it should prove to be worth after the constitutionality of the law was passed upon by higher courts.

Vigorous action in behalf of the laws was made in appellate court. The case may be taken to the supreme court of the state because of the sweeping effect of the decision.

COURT HANDS OUT CIVIL CASE RULINGS

The following rulings were made by the court today:

A motion for a new trial in the case of Edward H. Jones against the Ohio Electric railway company, for damages, was overruled and judgment granted on the verdict, which was "No Cause for Action," brought in by the jury on December 1, which heard the case.

Motion for a new trial in the case of the Lima Packing company against Claudia E. Parker and others, was overruled and judgment granted on the verdict, which was "No Cause for Action," returned by the jury.

The case of Susan Carter against the city of Lima, an injunction case, has been settled and dismissed. The litigation grew out of improvement of lots owned by Mrs. Carter, which were assessed for paving.

DEMON RUM CAUSE OF FOUR DIVORCES

Judge Klinger Cuts Six Matrimonial Bonds in One Day.

Habitual drunkenness figured in four of six divorce cases, heard by Judge Klinger today. Not one of the defendants were in court to tell their side of the story.

Elizabeth Stola was granted a decree from Maleia Stola. Here drunkenness and extreme cruelty were the charges. She was restored to her maiden name of Elizabeth Bobieca.

Kate Waller was given a divorce from Jasper Waller. Drunkenness, extreme cruelty and gross neglect of duty were the grounds upon which the decree was granted. She was restored to her former name of Kate Austin.

Mabel Kles secured a decree from Raymond L. Kles. Drunkenness, and gross neglect of duty were the charges made by the wife. She was given the custody of the child and Kles must pay $2 a week until the little one is 18 years old.

Adultery, gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty were grounds upon which Oscar J. Brogdon was divorced from Norma Brogdon. He was granted custody of the children.

James E. Howard secured a divorce from Clara E. Howard on charges of gross neglect of duty.

Carrie G. Young was divorced from John O. Young. Habitual drunkenness and gross neglect of duty was made the charges. She was given the custody of their child and he must pay $2 a week for the child's support until it shall become 18 years of age.

Two cases for divorce were set down for hearing by Judge Klinger some time this afternoon.

The case of Chlovia V. Malmade against Flavia M. Malmade was opened for disposition of their daughter, Dorothy. The divorce was granted in 1912. The child was given to the mother today, but the father has the privilege of visitation. He must pay $3 a week, beginning July 1 for its support, and $4 the first of each month until the little girl is 16.

Calvin Garau of Jackson township, filed a cross-petition and answer to the divorce case of his wife, Alta M. Garau, started in court some weeks ago. The cause will soon be for hearing. He says she was fault finding, took and allowed the children to go to places he did not wish them to do so, poisoned their minds against him and continually berated him in all that he undertook. He wants the custody of the children.

The annual banquet of St. Rose Alumni association which was to be given on Thursday, June 22nd, will be held on Wednesday evening, June 21st, at the Elks' home, at eight o'clock p. m. Business meeting on Monday evening at 7:30.

MEDAD TALBERT INJURED.

Nedad Talbert, colored, baggage master at the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton station, was struck by an approaching train this morning, while "working" another train. His back was seriously injured. He was removed to the city hospital in the Williams and Davis invalid coach.

Joe Allen Blair, three-days-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Blair, died at the home of the grandparents, Mayor B. H. Simpson, and Mrs. Simpson, this morning at 3:30 o'clock. Prayer services were conducted at the Simpson home this afternoon by Dr. M. B. Fuller of Trinity Methodist church.

DEMOCRATIC ACHIEVEMENT AND G. O. P. MULLING IN CONTRAST.

From the New York World. Vermont republicans in convention assembled writhed in anguish over the "weak, vacillating, incompetent democratic party."

The "weak, vacillating, incompetent democratic party" is the party that enacted the greatest banking and currency law the country ever had after the republican party had failed at the job; the party that reformed the tariff after the republican party had muddled the work; that created a trade commission after the republican party shirked its duty; that has doubled the size of the United States army and made provision for general military training; that has framed the greatest navy bill in the history of the country; that is preparing to take the tariff completely out of partisan politics and to rehabilitate the merchant marine; that has kept the United States out of war and maintained the honor of the nation by the processes of peace.

The "weak, vacillating, incompetent democratic party" has done more for the country in three years than the republican party did in 16 years of continuous power. It is a record for which the republican party has no parallel since the Civil War.

The First Congregational church has arranged for a picnic and outing on Wednesday afternoon and evening, at McBeth park.

IN MEMORIAM. "At first we think that Home is Heaven; And then we find that Heaven is Home."

Mrs. Matilda Faurot Karna was born in a log house on a farm near Marion, Marion county, Ohio, October 13, 1838. When but a small child her parents, David and Eleanor Faurot, moved the family to Hardin county, where many happy, but busy years, were spent. During the war, August 7, 1862, the family moved to Lima, Ohio, into a home on South Union street, just back of the Old Methodist Episcopal church; afterwards moving to North Jackson street, their home for many years.

The figure 13 was conspicuous in her life. She was the thirteenth child of the 16 children born to Mr. and Mrs. David Faurot. She was born upon the 13th day of October, and buried upon the 13th day of June. The number of her burial permit was 6019. Her mother's funeral, December 7, 1873, was the first one in beautiful Woodlawn cemetery, where now rest nearly all the members of this once large family. George S. Faurot and A. K. Faurot being the only two survivors.

She was married in December of the year 1867, to Josiah S. Karna of Hagerstown, Maryland. To this union was born one child, who lived but a few short hours. While this noble man and woman were denied the responsibilities and pleasures of parenthood, they were like parents to many nephews and nieces in the family, for which they will be rewarded.

She was left a widow in the year 1897, and all through these long years has mourned the departure of the devoted companion, whom she has found in that better home beyond.

Early in life she gave her heart to Christ, whom she trusted to life's close. The Methodist Episcopal was her church home.

She was of a cheerful disposition; loved life and work; was ever doing deeds of kindness for loved ones and friends. A long, useful life has ended, and we shall miss her from our family circle as days and years roll on.

Leaves have their time to fall; flowers to wither; the stars to set; man to die. But it matters not what hour the righteous fall asleep, for "Death cannot do the Christian harm. It is but the passage out of prison into a palace; out of a sea of troubles into a haven of rest; out of anxiety into exceeding great and eternal joy; out of a crowd of acquaintances into the innumerable company of friends and loved ones; out of the earthly dwelling into the blessed and everlasting home with Jesus."

"She has but gone on a little while before To know the blissful mysteries of the Unseen Land; And we are only awaiting here below The summons to rejoin her hand in hand."

CROWD HONORS 12 ST. ROSE GRADUATES

The Rev. Father Hickey, of Dayton, Delivers the Address.

Basing his address upon character, the Rev. Father William Hickey of Dayton, spoke enthusiastically last night to the 12 graduates just completing their work in St. Rose school. He is dean of Dayton district of Catholic churches. He told them of how a good name was greatly to be sought, even over riches, and that the strong competition in the business world today demanded the cleanest and best of characters to succeed. He said this was true of every walk in life. Closest attention was given the Rev. Father Hickey and he spoke at length.

The church was filled for the commencement exercises. The girls of the class were in white gowns and carried roses. They were Katherine Hanley, Eleanor Daley, Cecile Boyle, Alice Mumaugh, Loretta Henry, Agnes Doyle, Margaret Shea and Beatrice O'Connor. Boys of the class were Edward Horrigan, Raymond Gorman, Arthur Kelly and Clarence McCrate.

The Rev. Father A. E. Manning, their pastor, presented the diplomas. Miss Margaret Shea held highest honors in the class. First honors went to Alice Mumaugh, Raymond Gorman, Clarence McCrate and Eleanor Daley.

HIKE WESTWARD
REAL VACATION
FOR AMERICANSOut-Doors of the Mountains Furnishes Ideal
Recreation.GOVERNMENT AIDING Controls Great National Parks For Use of the Public.

By Frederic J. Haskin.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—You can't run at high gear unless you keep your machine in perfect repair, and even then you can't run at high gear all of the time. That is the rationale of the need of modern man for vacation. He does more in a year than his forefathers did in five, and he therefore has pressing need to knock off once a year, and do nothing, or something else, for at least two or three weeks. All of the more important business organizations of the country are making vacation a regular and important institution. They are organizing camps and play grounds. They realize that human efficiency is the deciding factor in the success of any business and that efficiency is a matter of health.

The individual faces exactly the same problem. His success depends upon the amount of rest that he puts into his work, and the rest depends upon health. Many of us never do catch up with the modern pace. We are fagged laggards all the way through the struggle. Only a few of us are as much as five-eighths alive most of our waking time. We drink buttermilk to live long, but are only half alive while living. And so few of us ever realize that the way to achieve is not to try harder, but to quit trying for a while, to give our nerves the tonic of freedom from responsibility, and our lungs a breath of fresh air.

Change is the prime essential of vacation. If you live in the country and raise cucumbers, the proper thing for you to do is to have your whiskers curled and go to New York. But most of us live in the city, and therefore the things we need is to go out doors.

Now living out-of-doors is at once a habit and achievement. John Muir says that going back to the woods is going home because we all came from the woods. To many a westerner this is very true. The east has somewhat to learn from the west along that line. In western towns everybody is off for a hike every few weeks or months. Most of the men hunt and most of the women ride, and throwing a squaw-hitch over a pack is as common an accomplishment as playing golf is in the east. When your real westerner gets a vacation, he has no doubts about what to do. Only a hundred and twenty-five miles away there is a trout stream that he has been intending to try for several years. He puts the grub box and bed in the buckboard, hitches up his team of native cayuses, and arrives at his desired trout stream in two days without fatigue. He knows how to take care of himself and have a good time out-of-doors. And to that familiarity of his with the mountains and mesa you may trace much of what is best and most typical in him—his breadth of thought, his physical stamina, his resolute love of freedom.

Now there is no denying that there are many good amateur woodmen in the east, but numerically they are the merest handful. The typical easterner is about submerged in his own urban existence. Turn him loose in the woods and he is lost and miserable. Give him freedom and he does not know what to do with it. He falls heavily back upon the resort hotel, which is very well for women and children and invalids but surely reveals a lack of all imagination and spirit of adventure in youth and manhood.

So the east has something to learn from the west, and this is the nub of the story—the west is now ready to teach. Through the department of the interior, ably and enthusiastically abetted by several large railroads, the west is inviting the east to come out and take a look at its great national parks. There is room for hundreds of thousands without any crowding. Scattered from the Canadian border to Southern California, these national parks contain the most wonderful variety of scenery and wild life to be found anywhere in the world. Yet until recently they have been almost entirely neglected except by people living within a few hundred miles of them and occasional adventurous globe trotters, who have looked and proclaimed them far more striking than the Alps and wondered that they were not better known.

Now the United States government has determined to make the American people aware that they possess these wonderful playgrounds. Robert T. Mather, a wealthy westerner, has been placed in charge of the work, and is pushing it with all the energy and executive ability of a successful business man. And the east is already heading the invitation. More persons visited the parks last summer than ever before, and this summer will see their numbers grow still further. The west is showing the east how to go back to the woods. And the best part of it is that you can take just as stiff or just as mild a course as you wish. You may get a pack horse and a saddle horse and take to the wilds to look out for yourself, or you can hire a guide to bear the responsibility and do the work, or you can set up your tent by a stream, and stay right there, or you can rent a little chalet and keep house, or you can stay at a carefully organized and conducted camp, or you can get a first class room at a first class hotel and look at the scenery through the window.

The whole thing has been planned so that any taste, and any amount of initiative and imagination or any lack thereof, can be exactly accommodated. And summing up in these parks is, for the most part, pleasantly free of the hold-up elements which mar vacations in some—in fact in many—places. No millionaire colonies can get a monopoly of these parks because Uncle Sam owns them, and though all may camp on equal terms, there is no land for sale. Likewise the hotel and camp people lease the right to conduct their establishments from the government, and the government is there to see that they are properly conducted.

As for the parks themselves, it is impossible in limited space to do much more than enumerate them. Yellowstone is, of course the most famous, the only one of the collection that has been well and favorably known for many years. Its geysers and tame bears are among the wonders that everyone has heard of. It undoubtedly affords a wonderful opportunity to study wild life in an undisturbed and yet natural state. As for scenery, however, it cannot compare with the great Glacier park to the north—a land of sheer, snow-covered mountains, clear lakes, great glaciers and forests. This is one of the largest and probably the wildest of the parks.

The Yosemite National park in middle eastern California will attract you more than any other if it is a pleasant climate that you seek. The summers are ideal and the winters mild. This is a country of towering forests, great sweeps of grassy open, and deep gorges where mountain streams take the most incredible leaps. It is these falls which made the Yosemite famous and gained it the protection of the government. The Ribbon Falls for example, has a sheer drop of 1,612 feet, which is ten times as great as that of Niagara, and converts the stream into a breeze tossed lacey veil of foam.

California has also the Sequoia and General Grant parks, which were set aside to preserve for the delight of all men the giant Sequoia trees—those incredible plants that are as mighty as the mountains themselves. Visualize, if you can, a tree 36 feet in diameter and 280 feet high. That is the General Sherman tree. You could make a crate for the Lusitania out of the lumber it would yield. There is nothing alive on the earth as old as these wonderful trees.

Then there is Mt. Rainier, one of the most remarkable peaks in the world, and Crater Lake, a deep body of water on top of a high mountain, a place of mystery and legend. In Colorado there is Mesa Verde park, where the habitations of a people that vanished thousands of years ago are almost perfectly preserved; and the Rocky Mountain National park, where the Big Horn mountain sheep still bounds. All of them afford splendid opportunities to camp and explore, and though you are not allowed to hunt, you can enjoy some of the finest trout fishing in the world.

ALLEN COUNTY MEN
MAY BE PAROLED

Frank Darring and Curtis Hall, Allen county prisoners confined in the Ohio State penitentiary, will soon be paroled from that institution. Their case was taken before the board of administration and at their meeting yesterday, they acted favorably.

Darring was sent to the pen from Allen county for horse stealing and larceny on May 23, 1914. The case came to court from the docket of Justice B. H. Holmes on April 2. He pleaded not guilty, but later withdrew his plea and said he was guilty. Hall was indicted on October 12, 1914, for burglarizing a railroad car, and larceny, in connection with George Flynn. His case came from the docket of Mayor Robb. On October 12, he pleaded guilty and was sentenced. The value of the goods taken was set at $60. James J. Weadock, former county prosecutor, conducted the investigation into their cases.

THE FAUROT'S PICTURES.

Warmer weather seems to bring no diminution of the heavy attendance at the Faurot. The fact that this theatre is just about the coolest spot in town is recognized by all picturegoers and they relish the experience of witnessing the superb Paramount productions, which can be seen at no other theatre in Lima, in genuine comfort. The afternoon performances at the Faurot are decidedly popular. The theatre affords an ideal resort for the weary shopper and the tired business man. An hour of pleasant and profitable recreation in this cool and comfortable theatre will be found to be just about what the doctor would order.

For today the Faurot has a return engagement of one of the best pictures that it has ever shown upon its screen. This is the Lasky production of "The Golden Chance," with Cleo Ridgeley and Wallace Reid in the leading roles. Many and insistent have been the requests from Faurot patrons for another view of this remarkable photoplay. It is a picture among a thousand. Its dramatic story is so absorbing, the acting of Miss Ridgeley, Mr. Reid and the other members of the all-star cast which was provided for the play is so convincing and the production and photography is of such exquisite character that it will be many moons before a picture will be found that contains so many elements of success. "The Golden Chance" is accompanied by new Paramount Pictographs, a screen novelty that will interest, instruct and amuse.

Mae Murray, the beautiful Lasky star who made her first screen appearance in "To Have and to Hold," will come to the Faurot on Sunday and Monday in the Lasky production of David Belasco's famous play, "Sweet Kitty Bellairs," taken from the popular novel, "The Bath Comedy," by Agnes and Egerton Castle.

Manager Cunningham is enthusiastic in praise of this play. He saw its first screening at the Strand theatre, New York, and pronounces it a photodramatic masterpiece, a verdict that agrees with all the New York reviewers. Mae Murray's appealing personality, her grace, youth and beauty, which made her so popular on the stage, are brought out in their entirety in this superb work. The production is probably the most magnificent in point of settings, locations and costuming that Lasky has ever made. The scenes are laid at the famous English watering place, Bath, during the latter part of the 18th century, when powdered wigs, courtly manners, flashing wit and an alert sword were the vogue. The Lasky company sent technical experts to England to delve among the antique shops and archives of this memorable spot. They brought with them to America many of the properties and detailed sketches of the famous buildings of that period. This careful preparation of detail finds a counterpart in the wonderful photography with which Lasky has invested the production. The staging and photography of "Sweet Kitty Bellairs" is a delight to the eye, and the story is a delight to the understanding. It has to do with the adventures of Miss Kitty, the toast of the town, who becomes involved in a social scandal. The clever way in which she adjusts matters makes a fascinating play. Miss Murray is supported by such prominent artists as James Neill, Joseph King, Tom Forman, H. B. Carpenter, Belle Bennett, Lucile Young, Lucile La Verne and other artists of the Lasky company. A new Bray cartoon comedy, "Miss Nanny Goat on the Rampage," is a comical addition to the program. Daniel Frohman will present a organization. New Burton Holmes Travel pictures, with more interesting animated views of the Philippines, are also on the bill.

Harold Lockwood, formerly of the Famous Players and a prime favorite with picturegoers, returns to the Faurot as a Metro star on Thursday and Friday in his first production for that company, "The Come-Back." Mr. Lockwood appears as a rather rapid young man-about-town who goes into the north woods for regeneration in both health and habits. He is successful in both undertakings, but not without passing through much strenuous adventure. May Allison is featured as his leading support and the cost includes several pronounced Metro favorites. The production is skillfully made and is convincing in its realism. There are a number of magnificent snow scenes that will be a refreshing sight these hot summer days. This program also marks the weekly appearance of those ever delightful comedians, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew. They will be seen in a humorous skit entitled "The Jones' Auto."

It seems hardly necessary to dwell upon the attraction at the Faurot next Saturday. The simple announcement that Geraldine Farrar is to return on that day in that splendid photodrama, "Temptation," should be enough to fix the attention of all the picturegoers of Lima and vicinity. Following, as it did on its first showing at the Faurot, on the heels of her fiery "Carmen," Miss

Farrar scored a complete triumph in a character that is exactly opposite—that of Renee Dupre, the opera singer who finds her pathway to fame strewn with thorns. There is no mistaking the fact that this wonderful woman is the greatest genius on our stage today. An American by birth and training, we should be proud of the fact that she has conquered two mimic worlds, those of grand opera and the screen. She is an artistic and a great one—a genius of stage and films whose fame will be lasting.

In "Temptation," which scored heavily when first presented at the Faurot, she will have the support of Theodore Roberts as the impressario and Pedro de Cordoba as the struggling young composer who wins her love. The remainder of the cast is carefully chosen and the production will be remembered as one of the most notable the Faurot has shown. New Paramount Pictographs accompany the feature.

A feature of the Faurot's entertainments that is the occasion of much satisfaction on the part of its patrons is the musical accompaniment that is given the several features. This theatre is the fortunate possessor of one of the greatest musical instruments that is made—the Photoplayer. It is indeed a wonder box, for from its depths you can coax all manner of musical interpretation. It is pipe organ, orchestra and piano, all rolled into one, or capable of being performed as a separate unit. Roy Thompson, who presides over the instrument, is most happy in his selections for the different features on the screen. His music is always appropriate and of the highest quality. While rising to thrilling intensity when required, it is generally soft and pleasing and never jars. Mr. Thompson is enabled to vary his program constantly from the fact that the Faurot's musical library consists of over twelve hundred selections and these are almost daily being added to.

ing great satisfaction over the return of that theatre to the Universal program, of which they were deprived for a few weeks on account of a fire in one of the Universal's storage plants. Hardly any picture fan will debate the statement that the Universal company is pre-eminent in the preparation of a program of varied photoplay subjects. Just note the nicety with which comedy, drama and current topics are blended in their daily offerings. Today, for instance, the Star has a sensational drama in "The Railroad Bandit," a Bison production in two reels, featuring Marie Walcamp and Lee Hill. There is an imp comedy, "A College Boomerang," with Harry Benham and Edith Roberts in the leading roles, and the Animated Weekly, with its pictorial review of recent important world events. That is what might be well termed an ideal picture program.

Sunday's bill at the Star is also well balanced between comedy and drama. Ben Wilson and Dorothy Phillips, both prime favorites with the patrons of the Star, will be seen in a Rex drama, "The Finer Metal," and the program will also contain two Joker comedies, "Love Quarantined" and "Wanted, a Piano Tuner." No theatre in town can give such fine projection to the screen as the Star, for it has its own direct light organization. New Burton Holmes Travel pictures, with more interesting animated views of the Philippines, are also on the bill.

Harold Lockwood, formerly of the Famous Players and a prime favorite with picturegoers, returns to the Faurot as a Metro star on Thursday and Friday in his first production for that company, "The Come-Back." Mr. Lockwood appears as a rather rapid young man-about-town who goes into the north woods for regeneration in both health and habits. He is successful in both undertakings, but not without passing through much strenuous adventure. May Allison is featured as his leading support and the cost includes several pronounced Metro favorites. The production is skillfully made and is convincing in its realism. There are a number of magnificent snow scenes that will be a refreshing sight these hot summer days. This program also marks the weekly appearance of those ever delightful comedians, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew. They will be seen in a humorous skit entitled "The Jones' Auto."

It seems hardly necessary to dwell upon the attraction at the Faurot next Saturday. The simple announcement that Geraldine Farrar is to return on that day in that splendid photodrama, "Temptation," should be enough to fix the attention of all the picturegoers of Lima and vicinity. Following, as it did on its first showing at the Faurot, on the heels of her fiery "Carmen," Miss

DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM

The platform adopted by the Democratic party at St. Louis is a comprehensive statement of political principles which will appeal to the good sense of all who favor sound government and national progress. The document is rather long, but repays perusal. It is a statement of the achievements of the party during the past four years; an exhibit of present conditions and an outline of policy for the future. The best guarantee that this policy will be faithfully carried out is the record of Woodrow Wilson's administration and the unanimity with which he is supported by men and women regardless of their former political affiliations. The platform is one permeated by staunch Americanism. Upon all industrial and social issues its declarations are progressive and radical. There can be no mistaking the terms used. The fact that the convention was not a unit on all the planks, simply proves that the delegates did their own thinking and did not hesitate to express them. No citizen will be doing justice to himself who does not read the St. Louis platform of 1916.

THE FIREMEN'S CONVENTION

How true the old adage is, "Every Cloud Has a Silver Lining," was clearly demonstrated during the convention of firemen from different parts of the state held in Lima this week from Tuesday to Friday. In this particular instance local business men were the losers and the city received the benefits.

Funds for the promotion of the convention were raised by a canvass of business men. Through misinformation on the part of those in charge of arranging details of the session here, local merchants were informed that included among the organizations that would assemble would be the Volunteer Firemen's organization. They estimated that this organization alone would bring about 10,000 visitors to Lima.

With liberal donations from local concerns a nice sized fund was raised and everything was placed in readiness for the large delegations that were looked for. In some instances arrangements were made for extra clerks, and plans were made for the erection of a huge tent on the public square where shoppers visiting the city could check their parcels and packages free of charge.

But all the preparations were to no avail, as the delegations failed to materialize. Hotel, restaurant, shop and cafe proprietors, who had subscribed liberally to the funds and naturally expected a return of some sort.

However, the city was benefited in a number of ways through the session held by the firemen, and this at the expense of a small amount of gasoline. During the stay of the firemen in Lima, members of the local fire stations were given a thorough workout in handling the new apparatus and should be able to give a good account of themselves in case of a big fire.

Each day tests of the new triple combination trucks were made. There is little doubt but that they received valuable information from the four-day practice. In addition to this the value of the advertisement the city received on the return of the visitors to their homes is not to be overlooked, as representatives were present from all parts of the state.

The honest, patriotic stand for Republicans is to stand aside.

THE SUFFRAGE CAUSE

The fact that all three parties at their recent national conventions for presidential nominations adopted the woman suffrage plank in their platforms is conclusive proof that the sentiment toward allowing the fair sex to have some say in regard to the laws and officers of the state and municipality in which they reside, is growing stronger each year.

Although for years the leaders and indorsers of this movement have been laughed at and ridiculed, each year they have received more recognition. It has taken them some time to become systematically organized in such a manner as to receive acknowledgment, but the hard work has borne fruit, as is shown by the adoption of the plank by the three parties.

Probably one of the greatest helps to the suffrage party in the eyes of the leaders of national politics, is the downfall of boss rule. Believing that the party would be for honest, clean politics, they have fought the suffragist issue with deadly hate. What the boss has lost in power in the last few years has resulted in a gain for the honest politician, and the outcome of the transfer of power has strengthened the cause of the suffragist.

Having achieved the much sought recognition from the Progressive, Democratic and Republican parties, the next step of the suffrage party will no doubt be to make the states not already flaunting the suffrage banner, take a stand in favor of allowing women to vote.

"Why did you not put legislation of this character on the statute books when you were in power?" asked Representative Hensley, of Missouri, of the Republican membership of the house in a recent speech upon the rural credits bill. "It was needed then as badly as it is needed now, but you refused to respond to the people's demand. You were either not concerned about the needs of this great body of people—the farmers of America—whom this legislation is intended to aid, or you were willing to see the money changers gouge them to the extent of millions annually."

Lloyd's report for May finds 1,500,000 of vessel tonnage now under construction in American shipyards. This is greater even than British shipyards show, and is six times the total tonnage building in American yards under Republican administration in 1912. All that was necessary was to cut the apron strings of the old high tariff school, and let the American ship building industry take its natural free stride to a position of independence.

Gain and grain products of the American farm account for $867,250,000 of our exports during the first 20 months of war; which equals two and one-half times the exports of explosives. The farm is the first asset in every preparedness program.

Prosperity, wages, commerce, industrial expansion, international law—all are about the Democratic hand wagon, which bears the label—"America first, last and always." Seating capacity is ample for Republicans.

It must have impressed itself upon the minds of Republican leaders by this time that issues in campaigns are not made from men's minds; issues are shaped by events.

GOOD EVENING: Entries all in for political race; pick the winners.

NEW MOVIELAND

By DAISY DEAN

RELEASES on various programs for the next few weeks include a variety of subjects that promise good entertainment for photo play lovers of all types. Here are some of them:

"The Sea Lily", Universal, starring Thomas Jefferson and the child actress, Zoe Beck. Some of the pictures were taken in San Pedro Light-house near Los Angeles.

"Fools' Gold", Essanay, featuring Neil Criss and Darwin Karr. It is a story of society and the gaming table.

"The Redemption of Dave Darcy", Vitaphone Blue Ribbon, written by Charles T. Dazey, author of "In Old Kentucky". It tells of the troubles of a thief who tries to go straight.

"The Flower of No-Man's Land", Metro, in which Viola Dana makes her debut as a Metro star. The cast includes Duncan McKee, the noted English actor. Scenes show famous "diamond horsehoe" of Metropolitan Grand Opera house, New York, as well as mining camps and the western plains.

"The Spatulate Thumb", Gaumont, written by Lionel Barrymore and Wright Huntington. The story deals with the identification of a criminal in an unusual crime.

"Shoes", Bluebird, Mary McLaren, formerly known as Mary McDonald, is featured. The story deals with three weeks in the life of an underpaid shop girl.

"Half a Rogue", Universal, written by Harold McGrath. King Baggot is starred as the playwright who runs for mayor and defeats the political gangsters.

"The Guide", Mutual, featuring William Russell and Charlotte Burton. Some of the exteriors were taken on "the rim of the world" on Little Bear lake in the mountains near San Bernardino, Cal. The story has to do with the unusual situation of a mountain guide becoming rich by writing poetry.

"The Lotus Woman", Kalem, featuring Alice Hollister who claims to be the original screen vampire.

If you want your favorite's picture—25 cents, please! Charles Ray, the ince star, has joined the increasing number of artists who make a charge of 25 cents to cover the cost of photographs sent to their admirers. "I'm not a tightwad," says Mr. Ray, "but I cannot afford to spend the money it costs me to be continually having pictures taken to send away, without demanding some trifling contribution."

"Public Opinion" is the name given the photoplay by Margaret Turnbull, now being produced by Frank Reicher of the Lasky studios, and which stars Blanche Sweet. This pertains to the ruin of an innocent girl's character by talk at clubs and in society.

Charles Chaplin is now at work on a comedy in which he appears as an itinerant musician with a violin and an accordion. The play hasn't yet been named. It will follow his next comedy, "The Fireman".

HEALTH HINTS

Child's Hair Should Have Best of Care.

A child's hair should receive the best of attention from the first downy growth to the long-curl stage. Ordinarily it should not be washed oftener than once a month. Then hot water should be used, and a roamy lather of good soap.

Dry well. Artificial means should not be necessary, because it only takes an hour or so to dry a child's hair with bath towels. A sunbath makes the hair live and well, but see that the youngster is well covered. Rub a few drops of castor oil in blonde hair, or olive oil in the brunette, if you see there is a tendency toward extreme dryness.

An expert says that where the hair is thick and fine a half inch should be clipped off the hair every month up to the age of 12. The vitality of a normal child's hair growth can stand this easily.

If this growth becomes thinner in the spring or fall, don't be alarmed. It is a natural procedure and not harmful.

The Searchlight

THE LONGEST TOW.

The greatest ship towing feat ever undertaken is that of bringing the U. S. collier "Maumee" from Mare's Island, San Francisco, to the New York navy yard where she is to be fitted up with new engines. The towing is being done by another collier "The Prometheus" which is expected to haul her load into New York harbor early in July. A special towing machine has been devised for the trip. A powerful steam operated winding drum holds the steel towing cable in even coils, and careful provision has been made for regulating the distance between the two vessels with a minimum strain on the cable.

FOR SENATOR

GEO. W. HOLL.

One of the candidates, who has taken off his coat, and entered the race for state senator from the 32d Senatorial District, composed of the counties of Allen, Auglaize, Defiance, Mercer, Paulding, Van Wert and Williams counties is George W. Holl.

Holl hails from New Knoxville, Auglaize county, is 39 years of age, and is as progressive as the little city in which he was born, and in which he has always lived.

If there was ever a self made man it is Holl. Deprived of his father, a shoemaker, in early life, he made his own way through the public schools of New Knoxville, the St. Marys High School, and the Ohio

Northern University. For nine years he taught school, and it was during this period as a teacher that he obtained those qualities that are now making him the success in life that he is.

Holl's home life in New Knoxville is ideal. A helping wife, three children and one of the most modern homes in Auglaize county, to which you are always welcome. At New Knoxville, Holl is the president of the Auglaize Tile Company and the president of the Commercial Club.

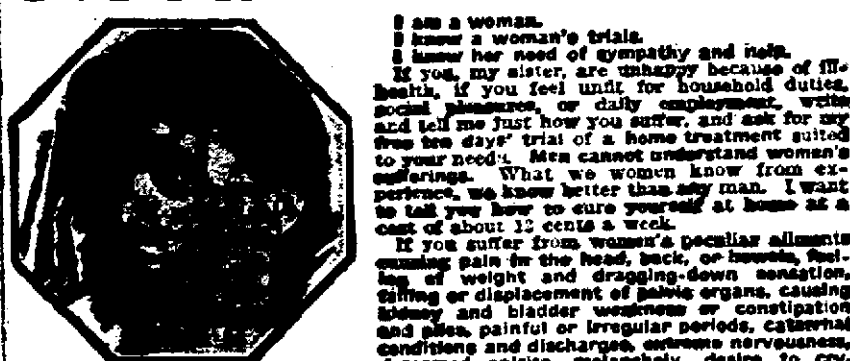

Holl's political career has been as successful as his business career. He is a Democrat and an elected Representative from Auglaize county in 1912 with a majority of 2376. He is now serving his second term as representative from Auglaize county.

As there will be two senators to elect from this district, this fall, Holl has entered the race with his coat off, and is at work. "The kind of work that has brought success to him in the past. The kind of work that will bring success in the future."—Spencerville Journal-News, issue of June 1, 1916.—Political Adv.

of accidents are due, either directly or indirectly, to alcohol. Seven per cent of railway accidents, 8 per cent of street car accidents, 10 per cent of automobile accidents, 8 per cent of these due to vehicles and horses, 43 per cent of heat prostrations and sunstrokes, 7 per cent of machinery accidents, 8 per cent of all accidents in mines and quarries, 13 per cent of drownings, and 10 per cent of gunshot wounds, are sustained, either in whole or in part, because of alcohol.

"The widespread use of alcoholic beverages has been conservatively estimated as causing the loss of 2 per cent in the efficiency of the nation's workers. The production of wealth is reckoned at about 32 billion dollars yearly; the loss due to deficiency (or diminished efficiency) in round numbers is therefore felt; $1,760,000,000."

A Prominent Manager Says:

The manager of one of Lima's most prosperous businesses recently made the following remarks about the use of the telephone:

"About a year ago, when I thought I was the busiest man in America, I took a little inventory of myself. I found that I was spending most of my time uselessly.

"By that I mean that most of the calls that I made were without profit to me or the man I was calling on.

"So I duplicated the exploit of Mr. Bell. I discovered the telephone.

"I found that most of the things that had been taking up my time, could be done in a fraction of the time over the phone.

"So now I make it a rule never to call on a man until I have talked to him over the phone. If he is not interested enough to give me an interview, it is a cinch that he will not be interested in my proposition. And if he is going to be out, I know it in advance.

I tell all my salesmen the same thing. I get in touch with them every evening by long distance, and I keep telling them never to walk if they can use the phone instead.

"I had an extension phone connected to my desk, and now when people come in they generally see me with the receiver my ear."

The Week In Society

MARIE N. NAGEL

AT THE General Federation of clubs which recently met in New York, about 600 guests attended the excursion to the "Washington Irving Country" and among them was Mrs. George J. Duffey. The following account comes from the chairman of the Hudson River reception committee:

"The guests landed at the Tarrytown dock at 11 o'clock on a beautiful cloudless day, where a long line of automobiles were waiting to receive the six hundred expected guests. As rapidly as the cars were filled, the ladies journey up Main street, Tarrytown, to the corner where had stood Katrina Van Tassel's home, then following the beautiful Broadway (a continuation of Broadway, New York, which is the old Dutch post road) where the luckless Ichabod Crane was pursued by the 'Headless Horseman'; pausing a moment by the monument marking the spot where Major Andre was captured, the party proceeded to the ancient Dutch church, built in 1690, back of which is Washington Irving's grave, then up Broadway, where a pause was made at the Memorial fountain to General Fremont; then on to beautiful home of Mr. William Rockefeller, which was at its best with the myriads of wonderful blooming shrubs and flowers. Then turning down Broadway, the party took a detour to see the old Philips Manor—the oldest Dutch Manor House built in this region—which is now owned by Miss Elsie Janis, who was out to greet the delegates who paused to see the old mill dam where stood the mill which ground the meal for Washington's army, and to survey the old quaint Dutch house, where Washington was a visitor. The party were then met by a courier from Mr. John D. Rockefeller's estate and had a wonderful treat in seeing his beautiful Italian gardens, Japanese garden and tea house, Alpine garden and the wonderful Oceana fountain, as well as the rainbow pool and very interesting statuary. Mr. Rockefeller bowed a welcome to his guests and shook hands with some he knew. Then the party motored to the Castle school, where the principal, Miss Mason, received them and where the guests were served luncheon and brief addresses of welcome were made. Assisting the Misses Mason in the receiving line were Mrs. Henry Villard, Mrs. Helen Gould Shepard and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Louis Shepard, Mrs. Hoar of Massachusetts, Countess Reventlow, Mrs. H. A. Grant, the Countess Seckendorff, Miss Batt, president of the Tarrytown Civic league; the Countess Mackin, Mrs. Bruns of Oskoning, Mrs. C. C. Brace and others. After the luncheon, a few guests visited the art studio to see Miss Mary S. Mason's beautiful statue 'The Triumph of the New Era'—a flying figure, wonderful in its spiritual quality, poised in the air with one foot resting on a broken cannon, half buried in the earth, the trumpet announcing the message of peace and good will.

"After luncheon, the party went to the opening of the Tarrytown Historical association, where a most interesting loan exhibition had been arranged in special honor of the biennial guests. The party then proceeded to Christ church to see the Irving pew and memorial tablet and then motored to 'Lyndhurst', where Mrs. Helen Gould Shepard and Mrs. Edwin Gould received them and where delightful refreshments were served. From there they passed by Irving's home, 'Sunnyside' and were again delightfully entertained with delicious refreshments at the charming home of Mrs. Henry Villard.

"The guests were from all over the United States and even as far away as California and the Philippines."

MARRYING A BUTTERFLY

By MRS. EVA LEONARD

The Gordons' Picnic Party Does Not Bid Fair to be a Joyous Event.

HEN Ralph Gordon drove up to his home in a light buggy Ethel was sitting on the porch in a dainty lace trimmed dress. "Hello, Ethel," he called. "Pack your lunch and we'll be off to the woods." He sprang out and ran up the walk. "I called up the library and asked what they would charge for a horse and buggy to take us to the woods and they named a sum so reasonable that I decided we could afford it, and I knew it would do you good to get out of doors. You do not have enough fresh air. It is a shame when the weather is so beautiful."

Ethel rose languidly. "Won't we feel awfully conspicuous in a buggy?" she asked. "No one rides in a buggy nowadays."

Ralph dropped his arms in despair. "As we live on the edge of town we won't have to run much of a gamut of criticism," he answered, trying not to show his irritation. "There is no taxi to be had here, and we could not afford to hire one if there was."

"To think of living in a place where there is no taxi," complained Ethel.

"Well, are you going or not?" queried Ralph.

"Oh, I suppose so, since you have the horse here," Ethel made it plain that she was not overjoyed at the prospect. Ralph compressed his lips and dropped into the hammock.

"What shall we take for lunch?" Ethel stood irresolutely in the door.

"Oh, anything, whatever you have. Let Julia put up a lunch while you change your dress," Ralph sat up with reviving interest.

THE PREPAREDNESS PARADE

WITHOUT QUESTION, the greatest civilian parade the world has witnessed recently bore testimony in New York to the demand of the American people for preparedness. Over 135 thousand marchers, 4,000 of whom were women, swept up Fifth avenue, 20 abreast, the first of the long columns making a start at half past nine in the morning—the last of the brilliant spectacle passing the reviewing stand just 12 hours later.

It was one of the most thrilling and dignified sights I have ever witnessed. Fifth avenue was like the great, restless ocean—a turbulent sea of waving American flags. Almost every bystander and on-looker wore the national colors in his buttonhole or on her dress, and my heart was stirred with new love for the emblem of my country.

Most strongly was I impressed by two facts about the great parade. First, was the unity of thought dominating this awakened world of people. The individual, his petty aims and selfish ambitions, were lost for the moment in a realization of the interest of the whole, and yet un-

Second, I was impressed by the diversity of the marchers. Not only was every profession, trade, and station of life represented, from supreme court justices, judges, bankers, lawyers, doctors, authors, to street cleaners, bootblacks and those humbler walks of life, but descendants of radically antagonistic races marched side by side, united in the common thought. Every one of the warring European nations was represented—Germany, France, England, Russia, and Italy—even to the remote Oriental countries. All were equally sincere—all marched with heads erect and shoulders thrown back, swept on by a mutual love of this, their country—the native as well as the foreign born—charging ahead as though to meet the invisible enemy who menaced their homes and hearthstones.

And just as sincere were the throngs who witnessed the parade—those who were not allowed to march because the ranks were already overfilled, those who had been unable to march for any reason,

WHAT do you expect your summer to give you? A good time? A rest? A few new sweethearts? A change? Or growth and a few new points of view?

If the latter—don't bother reading this article—you don't need it! But if any of the other things on the list of summer possibilities is your ideal, let us examine into its value.

You expect the summer to give you a good time—well, what of it? A little fun to make the days pass and then winter finds you no richer than you are now. You have sailed a bit and had a few fine swims; you have walked a little and danced and played some tennis or golf.

Of course, that might have meant strengthening your body and laying up a store of energy for the winter's work if you have done it judiciously—but instead you have worn yourself out seeking the elusive "good time".

If the winter has left you weary, or illness has depleted your energy, and a rest was all you asked of the summer, well and good. You need it and the winter will find you the stronger for taking it. But if you want a rest for the sake of going off lazily and shirking duty and forgetting ambition your summer is going to be a complete waste.

Summer flirtations may be your summer ideal, but are you going to gain permanent friendships from them? Or are you going to flit gaily from love affair to love affair and come back like a bedraggled butterfly?

Are you going to sacrifice the regard of sincere friends and the respect of substantial people for the sake of a few little skirmishes in the field of love and the excitement of flirtations? It isn't worth while to indulge in "summer flirtations"—it only lowers your own dignity, your ideals of manhood and womanhood and the respect fine and honorable people would have for you if you behaved differently.

Perhaps it is a change you ask of the summer. But life is all change, all color, all variety to the man or woman who observes, and if you only want to run away from yourself in order to forget all you have done and seen and been during the past year you will find yourself running around in a circle.

But if you mean to grow in strength and vitality through your summer sports; to renew yourself through your summer rest; to make new friends among the people you meet; to learn something in the contrasting atmosphere of country or shore in the summer time, then your summer vacation will give you growth in mind and body and stimulation to new viewpoint and interest in life.

Don't let your summer vacation be a cheap and worthless thing that ends ingloriously the minute you "get back into harness", but spend your vacation time intelligently, so that it will be a step toward growth and improvement and give you pleasing memories for the winter and incentive to make new seasons count in your own development.

but were one in thought with the marchers and were no less anxious for their country and willing to spring to its defense.

No one who beheld the inspiring stream of people could doubt that spirit of '76 still possesses the country. Without preparation, without rehearsal, almost at a minute's notice, all had dropped their daily duties and taken their place in line, to defy and warn any one who doubted that all were alert to the nation's welfare. And just as quickly would they spring to answer the call to arms should it come.

Of course, the mission of the demonstration has been fulfilled—it will capture those who question the spirit of the United States.

We women who watched from the grandstand told each other that our pride in our countrymen was of the tenderest and strongest, and we listened with fast beating hearts when the men told that the New York demonstration is indicative of the temper of the whole nation—that if the entire country had been called upon to parade for preparedness as great or a greater percentage would have answered the summons.

Thomas A. Edison, one of the marching patriots, feeling that he was too weary to last along the entire route, determined to drop out after passing the reviewing stand. Instead, however, he marched to the common destination where the parade disbanded, and explained that he did so because the enthusiasm of the people had so gripped and inspired him that he forgot his own disability and was carried on by the common sentiment.

There is but one regret about the great preparedness parade, and that is that the whole American people could not have been there to witness it.

If you have two years to spend on the first year's work and your health is uncertain, why not take that grade more slowly and easily?

HISTORIC RECIPES.
Recipes that bear dates a century or two old and that hark back to the days when all foods were "frugal" and all ingredients were generous, greet the eye here and there upon turning over the pages of the book of "Old-fashioned Recipes," published last winter by Mrs. Payne Whitney of New York, and sold for the benefit of charity. Some of the recipes bear dates as early as 1688, and the enormous amounts of material they call for—"a pound of the very best fresh butter," "a pint of cream," "eight or nine eggs"—might well dismay the housewife of today. There is no doubt that rare and savory dishes resulted from these combinations, however.

A "hunting pudding," vouched for by Mrs. Maron, date 1790, comes down from the times when the favorite dessert of the Englishman was a fruit pudding, boiled in a cloth and tied with a string. It is said that the expression "the proof of the pudding is in chewing the string," descended from that distant day. For this pudding, especially relished after the hunt, apparently, "take a pound of fine flour, a pound of beef suet, shred fine; three-quarters of a pound of currants, well cleaned; a quarter of raisins, stoned and shred; half a nutmeg, grated; a gill of cream, a little salt, about two spoonfuls of sugar. So mix all well together and tie up tight in your cloth. It will take two hours boiling."

"Miss Woollett's chicken hash" is made as follows: "Cut the chicken into four pieces and put them into a stew-pan with two or three sliced onions, two blades of mace, some white pepper, bay-leaf, some cardamoms, and two quarts of thin veal gravy made from one and one-half pounds of veal and one-half pound of rice. Add salt and let all stew till the rice is soft."

Here is "Lady Heywood's milk lemonade": "To the juice of nine lemons add one pound of fine loaf sugar; pour on this one quart of boiling hot milk, and let it stand all night. Into a separate vessel peel three lemons as thin as possible; pour into it one pint of warm water (90 degrees heat); this also must stand all night, covered, of course. Next morning put both together and strain through a very fine jelly bag till perfectly clear and bright."

A Resident of Lima Shows the Way.

There's one effective way to relieve kidney backache.

Liniment and plasters may relieve it:

But they seldom reach the cause. Backache is caused to suspect the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for disordered kidneys.

Lima people back them up.

Mrs. E. C. Stoltz, of 221 W. Vine St., Lima, says: "Overwork and other causes disordered my kidneys. A dull, constant pain across my back bothered me and I used Doan's Kidney Pills. They corrected the trouble promptly and the backache disappeared. I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as being a medicine that is just as represented."

BRINGING UP FATH

Fort Wayne To Play Lima At Murphy Sunday

Manager Callahan of the Lima Independent ball club was informed yesterday, a special car load of rooters from Fort Wayne would accompany the Indiana team to Lima, Sunday, June 17. The game which is to be called at the usual time should be one of the best contests that has been staged at Murphy street park so far this season.

A glance at the line-up of the visitors is enough to convince the most exacting fans that they will be worthy opponents for the fast local club. Most of the players were former members of the Fort Wayne Central league club. When the franchise was given up in that city, they organized the Independent team and have been cutting a wide swath in the number of wins so far this season.

The Fort Wayne line-up is as follows: Lauer, 3b; Romery, 2b; Holiday, cf; Meyers, lf; Morton, rf; Tellers, 1b; Weberus, ss or p; Hamm, c and Blauvelt, p. It is possible that local fans may be given a chance to see a former Notre Dame star working in the box for the visitors, as Blauvelt, the former Central league pitcher has been working hard of late and may be given a chance to rest up.

The line-up of the Lima Independents will be the same as used in the five straight wins that they have already placed on the credit side of the ledger. In the past contests the locals have proved that they are efficient on both the defensive and offensive. As Carroll has been pitching a superb brand of ball since the opening of the season, there is little doubt but that the visitors will have a hard time keeping the locals from making it six straight wins. Since the visitors have also a number of straight wins to their credit, they are anxious to keep the record unbroken.

Columbus Win With Long Hits

KANSAS CITY, June 17.—The locals connected with Blodgett's delivery for 12 hits in 12 innings yesterday, but these were so well scattered that Columbus won the pastime, 7 to 2. ST. PAUL, June 17.—St. Paul hit Joe Willis freely yesterday and defeated Indianapolis, 8 to 2. Padlock, Riggert and Berghammer each got three hits, while Smith drove out two doubles. Upham, an enigma to the Indians, got the only four widely scattered singles. The score: Indianapolis 100100000-2 4 0 St. Paul 12001140X-8 15 0 Batteries: Willis and Schang, Upham and Clemens.

Belmonts Will Play Beaverdam

Resplendent in their new uniforms and with a number of wins to their credit, the Belmont baseball team will line up against the fast Beaverdam club, Sunday, June 18, on their home diamonds at the corner of Sugar street and Robb avenue. As the visitors have been annexing victories since the first of the season, a good

Former Indianapolis Speedway Mount Entered In July Fourth Lima Driving Park Auto Races

One of the strong contenders for a large share of the $1,000 in prize money that is to be given away by the Lima Speedway association in the auto races at the Driving park is shown above. The picture is that of Herman Rodgers, of Dayton, at the wheel of his Maxwell. The car is one of the three that originally composed the Maxwell racing team before it was broke up. Last winter two of the cars were sold and the other driven by Eddie Rickenbacher in this year's Indianapolis race.

When President Fisher of the Indianapolis Speedway association ruled that Rickenbacher could not drive the Maxwell in the Chicago race on Sunday he borrowed Ralph Mulford's car. The car that Rodgers will drive was purchased by a Dayton speed enthusiast last winter and built over. Rodgers was signed to pilot the former hero of the Indianapolis and Des Moines races on account of past winning experience in the auto racing game.

Hot Water and "ANURIC" Before Meals---and Health

All people in America and especially those who are past middle age are prone to eat too much meat and in consequence deposit lime-salts in their arteries, veins and joints. They often suffer from twinges of rheumatism or lumbago, sometimes from gout, swollen hands or feet. Such people are not able to exercise sufficiently in ways able to exercise sufficiently in the outdoor air or drink enough pure water in order to sweat freely and excrete impurities through the skin. Dr. Pierce has conducted experiments and thoroughly tested uric acid solvent at his Invalid's Hotel and Surgical Institute which he is convinced is many times more potent than lithia—this he named "Anuric." It can be had at almost all drug stores by simply asking for Dr. Pierce's Anuric for kidneys or backache. It will overcome such conditions as rheumatism, dropsical swellings, cold extremities, scalding and burning urine and sleeplessness due to constant need of getting out of bed at night.

Our grandmothers have told our mothers and our mothers have in turn instructed us that in case of sickness, resort to Dr. Pierce's dependable household prescriptions. These medicines as put up for sale by druggists have never been recommended as "cure-alls," but only as superior remedies for certain common and easily-recognized diseases. Had these medicines been adopted to all classes and forms of chronic diseases there would have been no necessity for organizing a competent staff of expert physicians and surgeons, to act in the treatment of difficult, obscure and complicated cases of chronic diseases, as Dr. Pierce maintains in his Invalid's Hotel and Surgical Institute. Of his home remedies the most widely known are his "Favorite Prescription" for womanly troubles and run-down conditions peculiar to the womanly sex; his "Golden Medical Discovery," the greatest of all herb-system tonics and vitalizers, for stomach, liver and blood disorders, as well as his "Pleasant Pellets," the tiny, tonic laxatives, overcoming constipation and cleansing the system of poisons and accumulations in the bowels.

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE

The Western Ohio Railway will on June 16th, 1916, make change in the time of the Lima-Cleveland Limited which has been leaving Lima at 2:15 P. M., and arriving at Cleveland at 7:55 P. M.

The car will then leave Lima at 1:20 P. M., and will make the run to Cleveland in five hours, arriving there at 6:20 P. M., which will now assure connection with the Cleveland and Buffalo Boat Line for Buffalo which leaves Cleveland at 8:00 P. M. each night.

This change shortens the running time 35 minutes and is the only through route to Cleveland from Lima without change of cars.

The morning car to Cleveland will run on the same schedule leaving Lima at 8:00 A. M. and arriving at Cleveland at 11:50 A. M.

Remember the change of time leaving at 1:20 P. M. instead of 2:15 P. M.

WEEK-END DULLNESS ON WALL STREET

NEW YORK, June 17.—Selling of the usual week-end character induced in part by the crisis in Mexican affairs and the railway labor problem characterized today's dull session. Mexican Petroleum was the weakest stock, declining almost 3 points, with a full point for American Smelting. Among war issues Airbrake, Baldwin Locomotive, Crucible Steel and Westinghouse receded one to two points, with similar declines in motors and obscure mining shares. St. Paul, Reading, Lehigh Valley, Illinois Central and Seaboard Air Line averaged one point losses, with more moderate declines in U. S. Steel and the metal group. Shipping issues furnished almost the sole exception to the lowering trend, United Fruit gaining almost 3 points. The closing was heavy. Bonds were irregular.

The final session of the week opened with a further depreciation of quoted values for which the more serious aspects of the Mexican situation were primarily responsible. Declines of a point were registered by Mexican Petroleum, United Fruit and Studebaker, with two points for Airbrake while other specialties lost material fractions, together with United States Steel, Reading and St. Paul. Moderate gains were made by Beet Sugar, Inspiration copper and Willys-Overland. Heaviness became more general later, Petroleum extending its loss to almost 3 points.

WHEAT CONTINUES ON DOWNGRADE

CHICAGO, June 17.—Notwithstanding recent severe declines, wheat prices today again headed downgrade. The market opened from 1/4 to 1/2c down, with July at $1.01 to 1.01 1/2 and September at $1.03 to 1.03 1/2, was followed by a slight rally, and then a fresh setback.

Corn gave way with wheat. Prospects of warmer weather tended further to ease the market. After opening unchanged to 1/4c lower, prices underwent a moderate general sag.

Signs of shipping demand furnished only temporary firmness to oats. Bears soon had the advantage on account of the declines in other grains.

Lower prices on hogs weakened provisions. The chief activity was in lard.

Weakness at Liverpool and the arrival of Argentine corn at New York had a depressing influence. The close, however, was steady at 1/4 to 1/2c and 1/2c net decline.

Pressure from hedging sales of the new wheat crop led afterward to additional weakness. The close was unsettled, 1/4 and 1/2 to 1 1/4 and 1 1/2 net lower, with July at $1.00 1/2 and September at $1.02 1/2.

The close was: Wheat, July $1.00 1/2; Sept. $1.02 1/2. Corn, July 71 1/2; Sept. 70 1/2. Oats, July 38 1/2; Sept. 38 1/2. Pork, July $22.90; Sept. $23.50. Lard, July $12.85; Sept. $12.97. Ribs, July $13.17; Sept. $13.17.
